The Learning Collective

Assignment Marking Criteria

Knowledge:

- Does this piece of work show a good knowledge and understanding of the subject being discussed?
- Does the author know how this subject being discussed relates to other areas of theology and practice?

Reading:

- Has the author read appropriately and widely to help gain knowledge and answer the question?
- Where the piece of work draws on a primary source, like a Biblical text, does it do so carefully and thoughtfully?

Critical Engagement:

- Does the piece of work compare and contrast various points of views?
- Has the author shown the ability to read and think critically and so come to an independent judgement?

Writing:

- Is the piece of work well structured and is the argument it is making clear?
- Is the piece of work well written?

Practice:

- Where the piece of work is based on practice is there a good and careful interplay between theology and practice?
- Does the author show the ability to reflect on their own practice?